

PLITVICE SIGHTSEEING

We know you heard of this place. It's like a second name for paradise. Guess what, we're taking you there for the whole day. The tour also includes the popular Barac caves. Enter the underworld and enjoy the work of mother nature herself. Right after that — our oldest and most visited National park in the country. Plitvice Lakes are declared by UNESCO as a world heritage back in 1979, and in 2015 by a Guinness book of record, it was the most common place of people falling in the lake while trying to take a selfie by the waterfall. True story.

MEDVEDNICA HILL

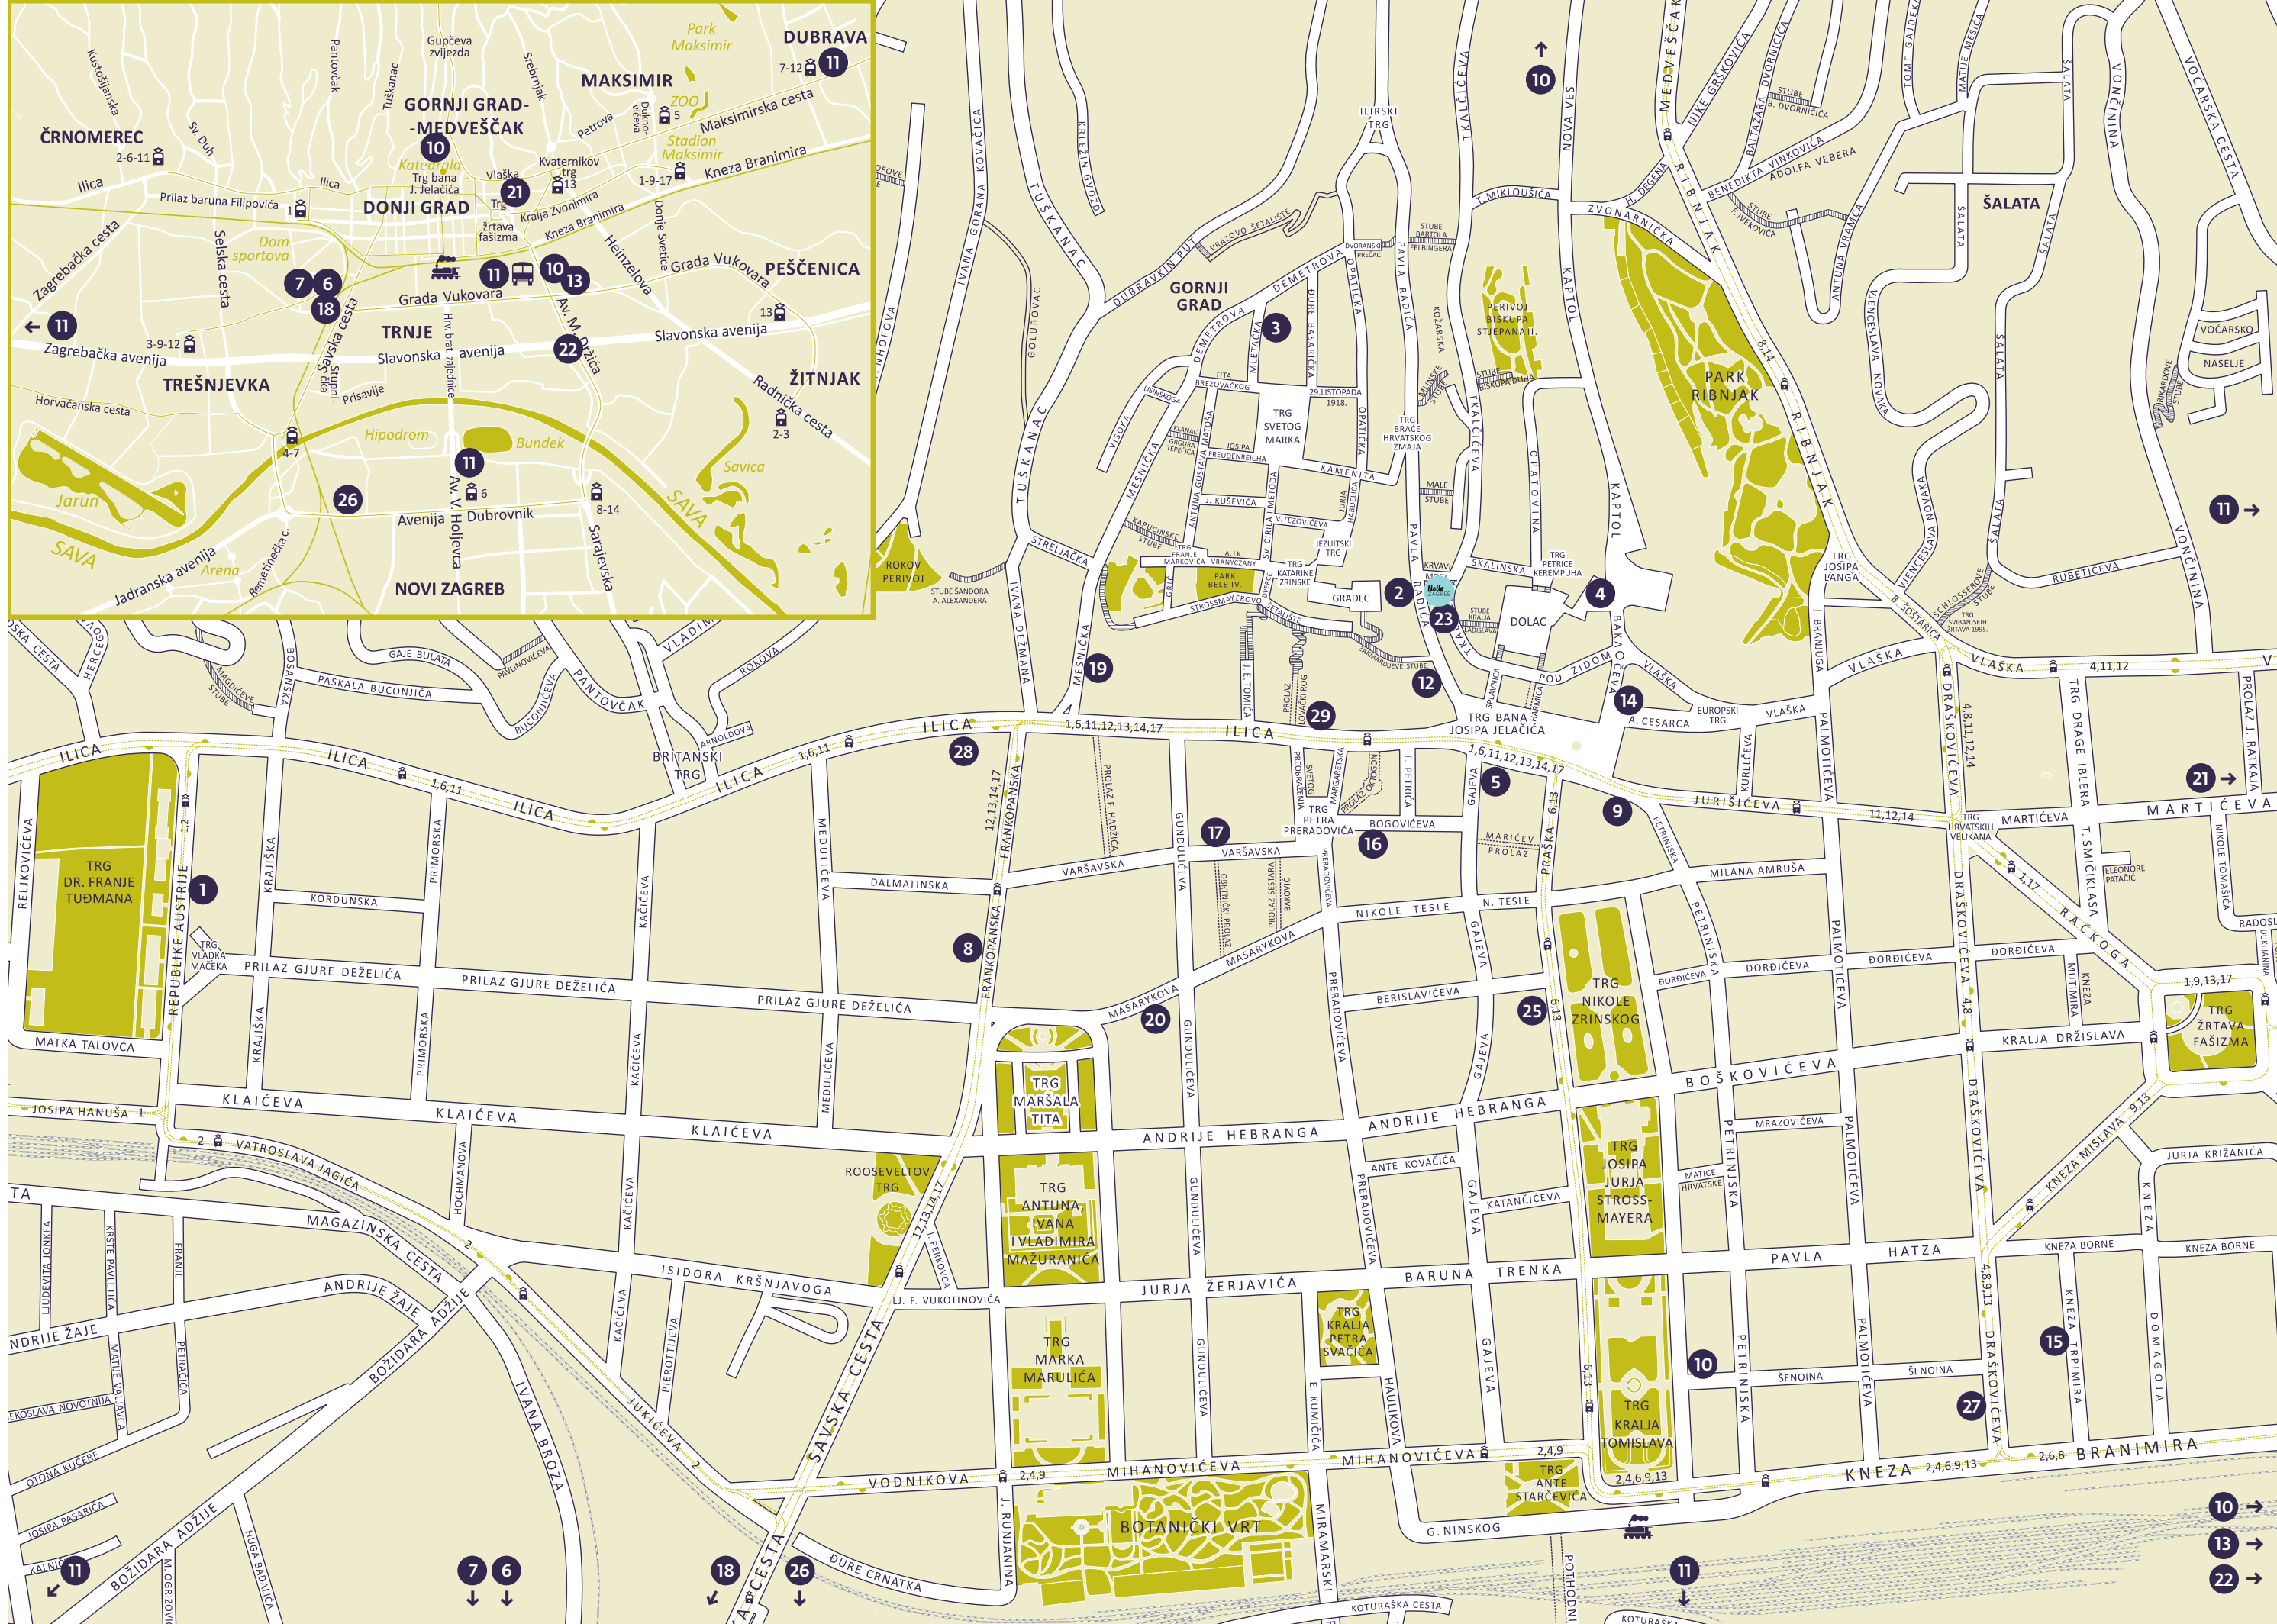

Want to have a little getaway from the warm city centre? Say no more. Medvednica castle on Medvednica hill is a place from your dreams. The castle has been watching over Zagreb for eight centuries, built in 1254. Most amazing view, most incredible stories.

ZAGREBCARD

It's not in our culture for people to pay the tram ticket, but that's not legal and you don't want to get in trouble on your first day in Zagreb right? No worries. We got you covered. Right here you can buy a Zagreb Card in value of 72 or 24 hours that includes: free transport, free entrance to Zagreb museums, Zagreb Zoo, and the most beautiful place in town — Zagreb 360 observation deck. Money in the pocket. You out of prison.

CITY SIGHTSEEING

Our offer also includes city centre sightseeing. Everything you need to know in a few hour walk around with our guide who's gonna be sure you don't stay hungry or thirsty while giving you the best places to go out, relax, or simply enjoy the view.

ZAGREB HACKS

-  Treat yourself with an ice cream and go in front of the Croatian National Theatre, pick a bench or simply place, put your jacket on the grass and enjoy your time off, including your ice cream, of course!
-  Budapest has Citadela for a beautiful view, so does Zagreb, well its unofficial name is Plato. It is a big area next to the church of Saint Catherine of Alexandria on the Upper Town from where you can see the East part of the city.
-  People from Zagreb call this walk path 'mainstream', but they are actually quite happy if they have a better half with whom they can walk on the Strossmayer promenade. It is a really peaceful and quiet oasis in the middle of the centre, that is worth seeing.
-  Dolac market: it is a traditional market place that exists since 1930s, where people from Zagreb usually go on weekends to buy homegrown products from small producers. You can find there all kinds of fruits and vegetables, dairy products, even traditional slippers with Zagreb as it used to be motives.
-  Outdoor cinema on Tuškanac: It is a large auditorium on the fresh air, and it is a special feeling watching a movie with your crowd under the moon and stars. If you don't have that luck to be in town while projection of the movie, you can still go there and explore, it is a really photogenic place.
-  If you think of yourself as a nature lover, and you get tired of the city rush, the Botanical Garden is the place that will heal your soul. It is located right next to the Main Station, and it's a real treat in the city centre, both to your eyes and senses, and #nofilterneeded Instagram posts.
-  Tuškanac is a neighborhood located in Gornji Grad — Medveščak city district of Zagreb. There are many houses in this neighborhood that are breathtaking. If you are in love with vintage houses with a mystery behind them, or modern houses with great architecture you can find them in Tuškanac.
