Some VERY Croatian habits

When you come home and your friends ask you about some super croatian habits, make sure to sneak peek at this list and remember what you've learned ... because we can assure you after these experiences you might have blurry memories.

First things first, we need to teach you main phrase when you go out and that is - „živjeli!“

It means „Cheers“ of course, and don't forget to look directly in the eyes of every person you're cheering with. Otherwise, be sure they will tell you - Hey, you didn't look in my eyes!

Next thing we have to cover is a drink which you will mostly be cheering with. It's called Rakija and it can be strong for the guys- like plum, herbs, and all those which have clear color, or something more sweet for the ladies- cherry, blueberry, honey... you name it.

Lots of night bars and clubs offer different kinds of music- R&B, rock, pop, jazz, techno, and it is always good atmosphere and friendly people. But if you want to experience something very croatian - go to a club that plays Balkan music. You will probably be shocked how everyone in the club know all the lyrics of every single song. And how every song touches them to the bone and soul, where everyone is hugging their friends and you can sometimes even see a tear in someone's eye.

CROCKTAIL Recipe

5CL ZADARSKI MARASHINO
3CL FRESH LEMON JUICE
3CL MARASKA CHERRY JUICE
GRATED ORANGE SKIN - ARANCINI
1 CHERRY

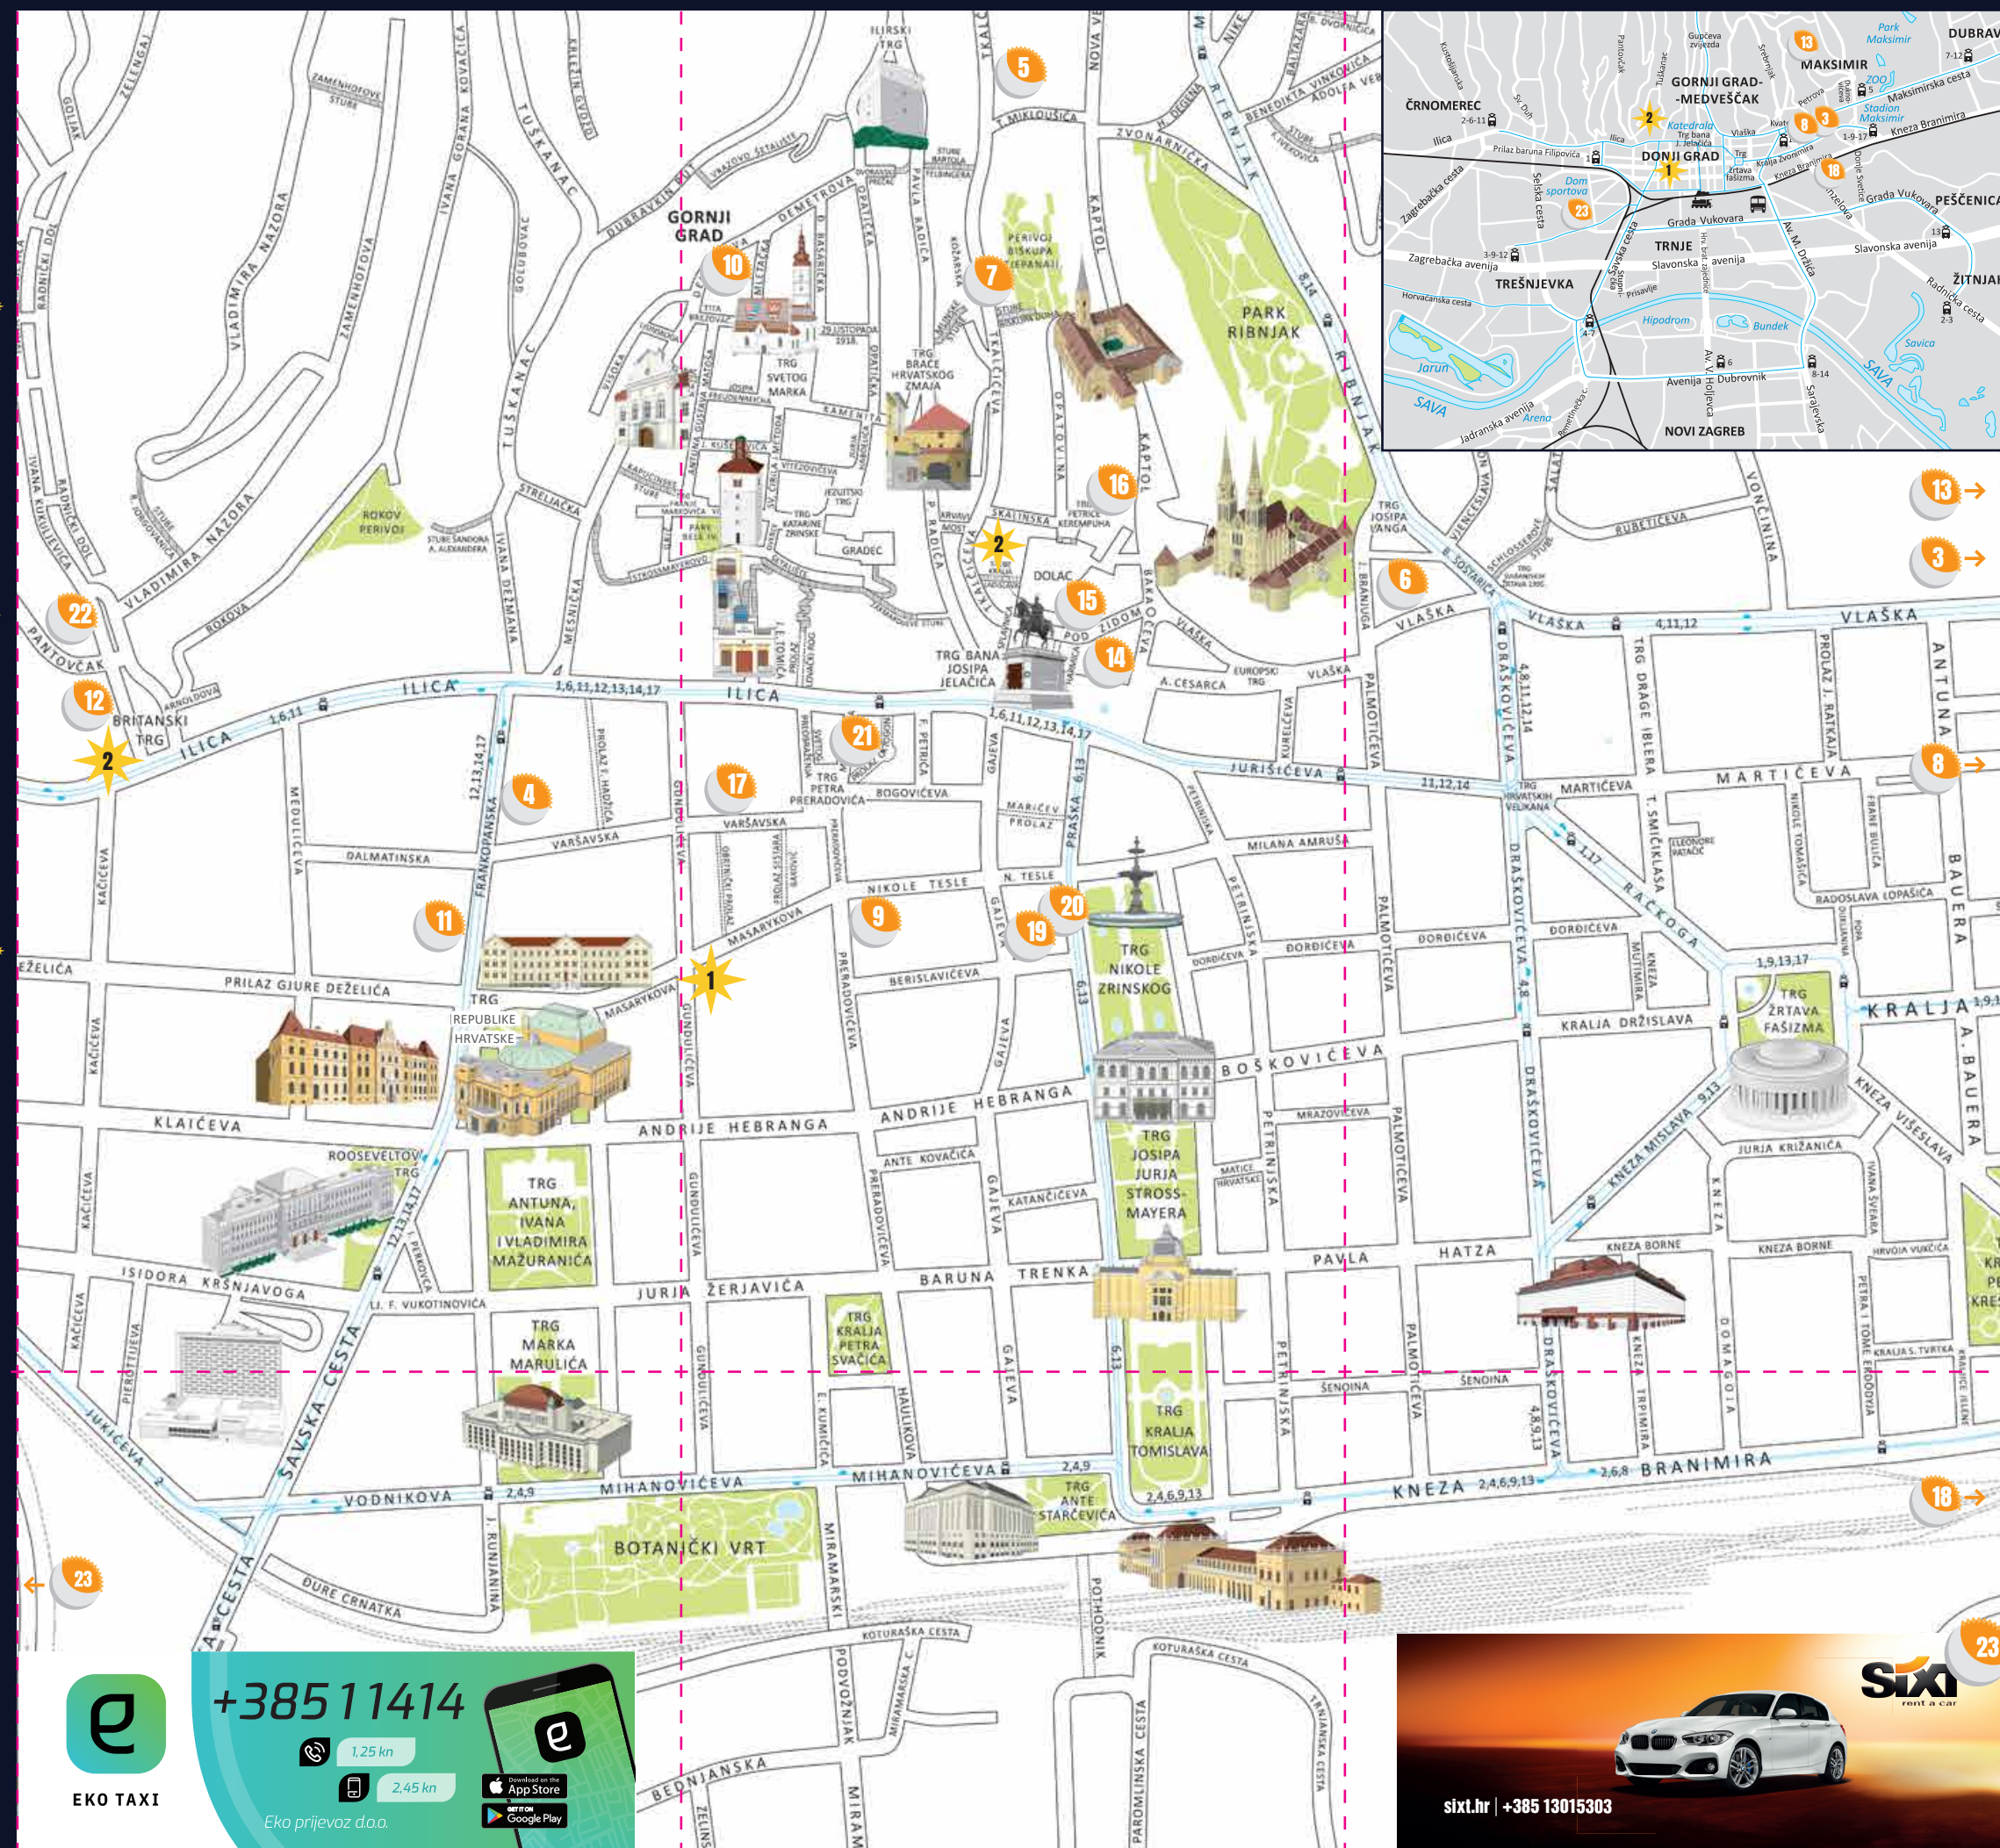

And if in the restaurant, after most of the people is done eating, you suddenly see people dancing on the tables - just go with a flow. We also need to say that most of Croatians like to dress up when going out. So show us what you got!

Talking about food after club, we can only say that stands that offer Burek, Kebab and Sandwiches will save your life. Since you will be out changing different locations - starting from a bar, other bar, club, second club, you will probably end your night early in the morning when sun is shining and tummies are stinging. And thankfully there are stands working 0-24 very near most of the clubs.

After you got yourself in all the pieces again, go enjoy the city, have a nice brunch and sit for a loooooong coffee. Shop some clothes or souvenirs and go lay in one of the many city parks. Think about an outfit you will wear tonight, reserve a seat in a restaurant or maybe have some wine with local prosciutto & cheese, and do it all over again. You're on holidays

In the long glass, grate some orange skin, then put crushed ice. Pour in first Zadarski Maraschino, then fresh lemon juice and Maraska cherry juice. Stir with a spoon. Decorate with arancini and cherry.

It is very important to emphasize that arancini improve the taste of the Crocktail.
